Season 11: Finding the Line

Why partner with The Avalanche Hour Podcast?

Join our platform built around the people, decisions, and stories that help to inform- and shape- our snow & avalanche community.

AUSTIN POWDER

Austin Powder Avalanche is proud to sponsor the Avalanche Hour Podcast, helping bring the past and future of our industry to the forefront. Safety is our First Priority and The Avalanche Hour Podcast helps us bring this message to industry.

Braden Schmidt

President, Austin Powder Avalanche

"I have found our advertising partnership with The Avalanche Hour to be one of the highest value deals around. Not only do we get direct results from the listeners, TAH helps strengthen our position in the community and they let us support, and be part of, a purpose that is greater than ourselves."

Andy Sack

Founder of Beacon Guidebooks

"Advertising on The Avalanche Hour has been an incredible way for us to connect with the core snow and avalanche community. As a niche company building tools for those 'with a curious fascination with avalanches', there's truly no better platform. Supporting storytelling and knowledge sharing from some of the industry's most prolific characters makes the partnership all the more meaningful."

Garrett Hansen

Co-Founder of Propagation Labs

★★★★★

As someone just starting a career as an avalanche professional this my fave podcast. It's highly educational from emotional well being, self-care, technical know how and best of all its entertaining. If you're not in the mountains, listening to this podcast in the next best thing.

Educational & Enjoyable

I'm a relatively new BC skier, and I really appreciate all the different perspectives that are shared on this show. I always walk away from an episode with at least one piece of wisdom, and I really appreciate this resource!
